The Amazing, Almost Unbelievable, Story of the Coconut Palm

Tuesday, April 16, 2019 at 7 p.m.

Kīlauea Visitor Center Auditorium

Beautiful, iconic, useful, and deeply connected with many cultures – the coconut palm. Join our special guest speaker and palm expert, John Stallman of the Friends Institute of Hawai'i Volcanoes National Park as he guides us on the epic journey of the modern coconut palm. From its earliest record in India and Asia, following human migration patterns across the globe, to epic sea voyages, to a spectacular shipwreck, and recent genetic studies uncovering the remarkable history of what has been called, “the most useful tree on earth.”

Program co-sponsored by Friends of Hawai'i Volcanoes National Park. For information, call (808) 985-6011. Your donation helps to support park programs.
